NATIONAL FOOTBALL LEAGUE STARS RETURN HOME TO HOST
"626 ELITE YOUTH FOOTBALL CAMP" AT THE ROSE BOWL STADIUM

PASADENA, Calif. (June 9, 2026) The Rose Bowl Stadium and Rose Bowl Institute will welcome young athletes from across the San Gabriel Valley and beyond for the 626 Elite Youth Football Camp on Friday, June 26th from 5:00 PM – 9:00 PM. This free football experience will offer youth ages 6–14 a unique football camp experience at America's Stadium.

The camp will be hosted by Pasadena-area NFL players David Long Jr., Darnay Holmes, Myles Bryant, Bryce Young, and Calen Bullock. Its mission is to inspire, mentor, and develop the next generation of athletes through football instruction, leadership lessons, and community engagement.

The 626 Elite Football Camp will provide participants with the opportunity to learn directly from professional football players who grew up in the Pasadena area and have gone on to achieve success at the highest level of the sport.

"This camp is about giving back to the community that helped shape us," said Darnay Holmes, Cornerback for the Atlanta Falcons. "We want young people to see what is possible through hard work, discipline, education, and perseverance while having fun and learning the game of football at the iconic Rose Bowl Stadium."

Participants can expect:

- Position-specific football instruction
- Skills and drills led by NFL players
- Character and leadership development
- Opportunities to interact with professional athletes
- A positive and encouraging environment for youth of all skill levels

Registration for the Elite Youth Football Camp is required. Families can secure free tickets by scanning the QR code on promotional materials or visiting, here.

About the 626 Elite Youth Football Camp

The 626 Elite Youth Football Camp was created to provide young athletes with access to elite instruction, mentorship, and positive role models. By bringing together professional athletes who were raised in Pasadena and the San Gabriel Valley, the camp aims to empower youth, strengthen community connections, and inspire future leaders both on and off the field.
